

Former Oz PM Keating Warns of US Involving Australia in a War with China

by darcy Friday, Jan 13 2017, 8:39pm

international / prose / post

Former Labor PM and banker's lover boy -- DEREGULATION -- which allowed banks to implement PARASITIC fees on the public for services rather than compete in the market place for profits, has warned that America under a Trump administration is likely to involve Australia in an unnecessary military conflict with China; of course America views any other nation that is rising on the world stage as an enemy as it feels the USA alone has the 'divine right' to rule the world and militarily attack those nations that do not comply with America's dictates.

Paul Keating, the banker's friend

Keating is correct in his view that China is the last nation that would threaten international sea-lane access in the South China sea as this maritime corridor is China's (trade) life blood, which of course is true, unlike the fabricated crap which issues from the mouths of US politicians, which obvious crap has heavily compromised America's reputation and understandably reduced its influence on global affairs. The notion that China would threaten vital trade routes is patently absurd -- you do not have to be a genius or bank de-regulator to see the obvious reality. America's ONLY interest is to "contain" both Russia and China and prevent those nations challenging its economic and military power, notwithstanding that America's imaginary power is stretched so thin around the globe, a mini-submarine and a hobby drone could launch a successful attack on the United States of tissue-thin LIES and Insanity.

Keating, the banker's and plutocrat's friend, got it right in this instance, "[Rex] Tillerson's claim that China's control of access to the waters would be a threat to 'the entire global economy' is simply ludicrous. No country would be more badly affected than China if it moved to impede navigation. On the other hand, Australia's prosperity and the security of the world would be devastated by war." Yep, correct, HOWEVER, Australia is America's most obsequious and servile vassal and has historically jumped to comply with Washington's every illegal military demand, in fact, both Labor and Liberal governments share this knee-walking attitude; who could forget war criminal John Howard lying about 'aluminium tubing' to be used for nuclear armaments by Saddam and then subsequently lying Australia into an illegal war based on American LIES (WMD) which war ruined Iraq, killed millions of innocent civilians and of course allowed Iraq to become a breeding ground for ISIS and other extremist groups, well done Howard and America. But do not forget Labor's Gillard, whose nauseating speech to Congress made every true blue Aussie's gut turn, Gillard followed up on that speech with typical servile action and then allowed American military forces to permanently OCCUPY Australia's SOVEREIGN soil in peace time. So whichever pathetic major party is in office one thing is consistent, their apron-string grovelling to Washington.

For mine I truly hope that the Oz government of the day jumps once more to another illegal, absurd and provocative American demand, as this action would not only fly in the face of reason but would expose both major parties as not putting the interests of Australia FIRST.

Australia needs a military conflict with China like it needs a hole in the head, BUT be assured, if Washington is desperate for support the spineless and treasonous major parties would comply exactly as they did when the UN rejected claims by the USA and refused to sanction an invasion of Iraq; so what occurred soon after? America called on its most servile allies to form the 'coalition of willing criminals,' Howard, Blair and Bush -- and we all know how that ended -- a ruined and failed State, ISIS and millions of innocents dead. And fuck you too Keating, the plutocrats choice.

Perhaps a disastrous confrontation with China may wake the Oz population into the reality that neither major party represents the public or national interest -- so bring it on Mal AND Bill, two lackeys extraordinaire! It's enough to make a true blue Aussie spit and then TAKE ACTION to save the nation. As for you America, blow YOUR naked military aggression out your arse and then take full responsibility for YOUR clearly criminal actions.

Turnbull and Shorten, kindy politicians

Jungle Drum Prose/Poetry. <http://jungledrum.lingama.net/news/story-2484.html>