

A Shambles is the most Accurate term that could be applied to the US State and its Apparatuses Today

by shirl Wednesday, Jan 18 2017, 10:07pm

international / prose / post

Indeed, the entire world is witnessing the US political system falling apart, democracy has clearly been rejected in favour of vested elite rule, which elite refuses to accept the PEOPLE'S choice for President. A campaign instigated by the elite to impeach/remove Trump either before or after he is inaugurated is underway as I write, full steam ahead. The clear message to the world and Americans is FAILURE of the political system, which of course throws all state apparatuses into disarray, particularly the so-called agencies, which have become so lost and dysfunctional CIA and other agency chiefs openly threaten the president elect. Try and match this behaviour anywhere in the world and the only nations that produce similar political results are African and Latin American dictatorships. A very revealing comparative exercise.

What it means in the world of reality is the so-called most advanced nation in the world is a cot case, while rising nations, particularly Russia and China are filling the void created by a CLEARLY dysfunctional, navel-gazing, pathological and criminal US state.

The insane push to undermine Trump with the most FEEBLE and appalling fabrications/LIES is doing America great damage internationally; I refer of course to the preposterous claim that Trump employed 'Russian' prostitutes to urinate on the hotel room bed in which Obama and his wife slept, I mean really, how implausible a claim is that? This beyond absurd claim could only gain traction among the uninformed, illiterate and feeble-minded, as hardly anyone in the international community believes it, yet its all going as previously described, full steam (hot putrid air) ahead.

The situation as it currently stands in the US offers no real solutions other than intervention by the people to RESTORE DEMOCRACY and representative government, the nation is clearly unravelling and you do not need a political science degree to see it.

The elite and its mass media have failed miserably to maintain the deception of democracy and are now scrambling desperately to regain control but with what? A raft of the most, puerile accusations, outright UNSUBSTANTIATED LIES and unproven claims. These truly pathetic threats against the president elect, most of which are coming from corrupt and bought petty officials, political stooges and TREASONOUS bureaucrats, are ripping the nation apart, notwithstanding doing irreparable harm to America's standing and reputation (now in the gutter) in the international community.

Russia and China need only watch the USA implode and then quietly move in to fill the void with viable solutions to all the global problems the US created with its 'perpetual war' ideology and proxy fighting forces.

It may surprise many but the groundwork for a NEW global economy is ready to implement as the foundations and groundwork have already been made, the transition away from the toilet-paper dollar would be made with the minimum of fuss. And pathological America would only have itself to blame or rather its elite to blame and those citizens that failed to act in time to save the nation -- the writing is chiselled on the wall.

