

Trump views Australia as Insignificant

by cyd Thursday, Feb 16 2017, 11:31pm

international / prose / post

Hilarious!

Reactive, imbecile Trump tells truth about America's regard for Australia, insignificant! Referring to the call between himself and Oz PM Malcolm 'useless' Turnbull, the US president, regarded the call as "unimportant", which view is clearly a smack in the gob of Mr harbour side mansion, supreme narcissist, Turnbull -- you've really got to laugh when two distinctly flawed personalities lock weenies.

Turnbull

However, it should serve as a wake-up call to the NATION of Australia, as it is clear that the US takes Australia's disgustingly obsequious, slavish, 'yez bozz,' servitude for granted. And why wouldn't it after the likes of John Howard, Rudd and Gillard who all knee-walked to Washington to the point where Oz is now taken for granted and permanently occupied by US troops and furthermore, Canberra has allowed the US to use Australia as a convenient platform from which to launch attacks on China, which of course has earned gutless, apron-stringed Australia the status of primary nuclear target in the event of American provoked hostilities -- a price not worth paying in any circumstance. So well done, subservient, knee-walking Canberra politicians, which compete with each over who returns from Washington with the greatest amount of custard on their face. If nothing else it clearly demonstrates that grovelling Canberra politicians are not REAL Aussies, which breed bends a knee to no man.

Now watch Turnbull try and deflect from the face-slapping insult when he could easily make an issue of the many American essential surveillance installations on our soil, which I would add, Australians are banned from entering -- give me a break! There may be convict blood in my family but there is no slave blood.

Need I now highlight the fact that the major parties do NOT represent the Australia people but serve foreign interests over the needs of the nation/people -- who gave permission to any government to compromise Australia to the extent of becoming a primary nuclear target, no-one, I could comfortably assert? Except of course our treasonous foreign-serving Canberra politicians, which if truth is served, no-one except the big business 1% have need of!

There is vast and varied talent in this country but big business/media support those who serve them not the people or the nation, so wonder no more why things are as they are. Of course the problem is easily solved by boycotting the major parties in every election, state, federal and local; shut these self-serving narcissists out permanently and elect representative true blue Aussies into office, EASY! This nation's strategic location, abundant resources and talented population provide everything we need and the last thing we need is a dose of American chaos and lunacy.

All we need know to act appropriately is that major parties support big business and elite foreign interests. Enough said.

<http://tinyurl.com/hh6md48>

Jungle Drum Prose/Poetry. <http://jungledrum.lingama.net/news/story-2540.html>