

As SICK as can be -- Yes, America, I'm talking to YOU!

by jess Tuesday, Feb 28 2017, 9:39pm

international / prose / post

I recall a news report some years ago in Australia, which nation's beach culture is strong. All sorts of competitive beach/surf oriented sports between Surf Life Saving Clubs are a common affair in this nation.

However, this news report focused on junior members competing in a beach sand race. The average age was about ten. The distinction here was that a young American boy was competing. And what a cultural eye-opener that situation proved to be.

Urged on by his American father, the boy participated in the sand race. He placed second, a young local boy took the prize, which didn't concern other young competitors but severely affected the American lad, who jumped in front of the local boy insisting he had won, 'I won, I won,' he repeatedly exclaimed, when it was tragically obvious to all that he hadn't. The poor psychologically tortured lad couldn't face defeat in an innocuous race designed to socialise these young competitors into beach culture and the responsibility of becoming Life Savers.

Well, you have never seen anything like the frantic pathological attempts of this American lad who couldn't face the fact that he placed second in the race, a good effort nonetheless. He just had to be first, 'the WINNER;' sick American culture demanded it, regardless of hard REALITY.

Now this coverage was of course on national news so the local population was treated, intentionally or otherwise, to the sickness that plagues almost all Americans, especially those that take Office. Put simply Americans are unable to accept hard REALITY, they MUST 'win,' even at the cost of losing all, including their culture and nation to nuclear war, which a group of lunatic sickos in Washington (neocons) are pursuing hell for leather as I write.

The pathological pursuit of 'winning' at all costs is of course self-defeating as no-one 'wins' (whatever that means) all the time. That is a fact that Americans are incapable of apprehending, which would see the nation destroyed in its foolhardy attempts to take on China, Russia and Iran; notwithstanding the HARD REALITY that no-one wins a nuclear war, especially between superpowers. But as is clearly evident, the cultural pathology that infected that young American lad is pervasive in that supremely SICK and DESTRUCTIVE culture/nation.

I would now quote George Washington: "Observe good faith and justice toward all nations. Cultivate peace and harmony with all." Wise political words indeed, notwithstanding the fact that Washington led a VIOLENT revolutionary war, in other words Americans could NOT achieve independence using political skills and nous, as Gandhi did in India, Americans all too readily resort to violence -- the world today is acutely aware. Hence, the USA is the world's leading civilian killing nation, which FACT is buried in the deep recesses of cultural denial and of course failure to apprehend REALITY. Therefore America is incapable of taking responsibility for its criminal actions, plain to see.

I need not press the point, the world today is dealing with a destructive, violent, openly murdering, supremely SICK nation/culture, and if the world fails to rein in, for its own good, this sickness, then clearly that sickness (America) given the weapons that America and its lunatic president have, is headed for oblivion, or at the very least the complete obliteration of civilisation as we have known it.

In conclusion, America is clearly beyond cure/help, its sickness prohibits reality/sanity interfering with its cultural pathology; I rarely state this in a serious vein, but for the first time in my life, I state emphatically, based on incontrovertible facts, that America is a LOST CAUSE.

Perhaps if the entire sane world appeals to the American people, sanity may prevail, but that is wishful thinking given the hard reality, especially in view of the fact that Americans now have the (lunatic) president they deserve.

<http://www.informationclearinghouse.info/46559.htm>

Jungle Drum Prose/Poetry. <http://jungledrum.lingama.net/news/story-2554.html>