While the blinded captured western population is awash with western propaganda and 'fake news' the majority of the world's population in Eurasia are watching their leaders making rapid progress which will soon over-shadow any gains the destructive war mongering west has made, in fact, western strategies for world take-over are unravelling as I write, but not so in Eurasia.

You would note the above description of western methods as "destructive," 'war and chaos' promoting, while the East is engaged in peaceful, constructive, cooperative economic (rapid) progress, which is noted with alarm by Washington, the head of the western Hydra. And so we see in Washington desperate measures taken by competing forces in order to facilitate a western resurgence, which of course will not occur as internal conflict only results in weakened States, which occurrence, Eurasian State leaders are exploiting to the hilt. Indeed the west is in a tail-spin from which it cannot recover the daily western 'news' cannot help but focus on these shenanigans which are a source of amusement for Eurasian leaders.

But the proof is in the pudding so wake up people and become aware of what the OVERWHELMING majority of the world's population is doing, you would get the shock of your lives if you could disentangle yourselves from the media sewage that issues from the western elite owned mass media, but you would be required to research and investigate matters for yourselves, which is problematic as western populations have been trained to passively consume packaged information shaped and delivered, by the nefarious CFR and its media plutocrats.

So, the great western social awakening has Buckley's and NO chance of becoming a reality, which means the gambit would soon be won by Russia, China, Iran and a host of other nations. So who is responsible for the decline of the west, of course the elite minority which has hijacked all western governments and the means of mass communications. Consequently my advice to western populations is go back to sleep as WORLD reality/truth would be too much to bear. Instead tune in on more Trump and CIA antics until you vomit or are mentally numbed, you useless, lobotomised, nose-ringed herd.

This piece is psychologically designed to maintain the social stupor of western populations, can you guess or determine how? Hint, mix important facts with targeted insults and harsh criticism which westerners cannot cope with; and so the result would be to ignore Eurasia's rapid progress and allow that group evermore FREEDOM to expand and leave the western world for dead, how does it feel you banjo-playing American dead-heads, not that I really give a shit?
