

The USA is Being Sucked into a Mid-East Vortex of Ruin - as Cheney once Predicted

by janet Tuesday, Mar 14 2017, 1:19am

international / prose / post

Good military strategists always have a 'plan B' as a fall back option if 'plan A,' known historically in America as PNAC, fails and FAIL it has, miserably. The entire Middle East is now virtually out of control with western supported proxy fighters changing sides as often as they change their underwear, which some would say is not very often, however, changing flags and rebel leaders is now routine, few in the West know what is really going on, caught up in the delusion that they are in control, well, yes they are, in control of a military interventionist nightmare, fast becoming uncontrollable.

The hubris and arrogance of inept US leadership has always imagined they are able to 'win,' and this in spite of the horrid failures in Afghanistan, Libya, Yemen, Sudan, Syria and Iraq, etc, all of which US-ruined nations have US interventionism to blame for their current nightmarish predicaments. Legal reparations are clearly warranted.

It is well known among informed commentators that ISIS was first deployed by the USA and Saudi Arabia in Libya though it was somewhat rag-tag. Immediately after the murder of Gaddafi and the destruction of Libyan advanced infrastructure, a more polished ISIS complete with hundreds of Saudi supplied Toyota trucks, was deployed in Syria and Iraq in order to fulfill western plans to carve up the Middle East similar to post WWI western strategies but with different borders most of which would have been resource and pipeline oriented/determined.

However, the intoxication of early western seeming 'victories' (none in reality) have since faded into obscurity and have been replaced by reflexive badly planned reactionary measures designed to retrieve what was lost, the entire game if the truth be known is clearly over for the US and various Gulf State allies AND Israel, as Russia, China and Iran have eclipsed all attempts by western influences to own the Middle East, which any analyst worth their salt could have informed the deluded drunken fools in Deep State Washington would be the case.

However, as supreme strategist Sun Tzu would probably agree, if the enemy is doing a 'good' job on itself assist its demise by approaching from another 'flank' or perspective, which the Eastern triumvirate has done with a win, win, win strategy for all involved nations with new Silk Roads and infrastructure/development projects. Now, look soberly at the issue, on one hand we have America and its allies known for their vandalism and destructive approaches, and on the other we have peaceful, cooperative relations to every involved nation's BENEFIT, which option would you choose, more American chaos war and destruction or prosperity?

The US and its allies have themselves created the circumstances for their own destruction, but few in the Deep State admit it as it would accelerate the inevitable demise of all warring and destructive nations including Israel, involved in the dream -- the allies and criminal Gulf States have clearly outsmarted themselves, not that any real acumen was ever evident. And so an historical perspective on dubya Bush's claim, "we have prevailed," MY ARSE!

When hard reality hits the delusionists in Deep State Washington they would no doubt resort to the nuclear option, be advised Russia and China, preemptive strikes on a mad dog are preferable to a rabies death.

After General Wesley Clark publicly warned the entire world of US plans to own and carve up the Middle East with its criminal Gulf allies, very little action was taken by opposing States, any of which could have dispatched all US proxy fighting groups including ISIS, at speed, which far too hesitant Russia, has since demonstrated in Syria, though Russia continues to vacillate, which has allowed American supported proxy forces to be re-supplied and re-group under various new flags, stupid, coward Putin, AGAIN!

Nevertheless, Clark did the world a service by unambiguously exposing the neocons as the culprits in Washington responsible for plunging the Middle, Far East and North/Eastern Africa into turmoil. And so we appreciate the grim reality the US faces today.

Now, you would think the USA has a 'plan B' fallback strategy, but not so, which is plainly apparent today, intoxicated on God knows what, mindless Deep State Washington continues to pursue its failed PNAC 'pax-Americana' agenda, which today is a bigger fantasy/dream than when it was first formulated.

Of course the lack of a fallback strategy could clearly be attributed to American arrogance as the one 'indispensable nation,' which fantasy also binds it to following a failed plan that would lead to its own destruction, plain to see. Everyone outside the mutually-mesmerising think-tanks in Washington sees the obvious, but please continue in your mutual hypnosis, the free world has far more important constructive (and destructive if necessary) plans to follow.

We would note today that "bomb the shit out of them" Trump, rather than approach the Middle East created mess from a different perspective listens to the same tired old fools in Washington that imagine an already failed plan, of more and escalated WARS, which clearly would suck the American nation and its allies into a vortex from which there is no escape, would succeed.

<http://www.informationclearinghouse.info/46647.htm>

<https://www.rt.com/op-edge/380426-russia-middle-east-key-player/>

Jungle Drum Prose/Poetry. <http://jungledrum.lingama.net/news/story-2572.html>