

Britain's sordid offer -- justice to the wind for Palestinians

by judd - The Guardian UK Monday, Nov 26 2012, 9:24pm

international / prose / post

In a deal worthy of a despicable exploitative former colonial power under the influence of Zionist bankers, Britain SAYS it is willing to back Palestinian Statehood if Israel is not pursued for war and other crimes against humanity, of which Israel is one of the world's major offenders!

Aside from the reality that the WORLD has had enough of 'God's chosen' treating non-Jews like dogs or sub-humans, Israel's merciless inhumanity to Gazans has gone well beyond the pale. In an astonishing turn of events, lackey to Zionist bankers, Britain, has asked Palestinians to abandon all legal claims against Israel for REPARATIONS, war and other crimes against humanity in exchange for what is already theirs by natural LAW, Statehood! I could barely believe my eyes reading this latest development in the UK Guardian.

But first let us dispel some PREVAILING myths and LIES that Israel promulgates.

First, Israel is a STOLEN (not a sovereign) nation in the same way Kosovo was stolen from its rightful sovereign owners -- by force of the gun and the use of TERRORIST tactics. Indeed, early Jewish leaders such as Begin were members of extreme ultra-right wing Zionist terrorist groups.

The second HUGE myth is that Israel is a democracy, 'the only democracy in the Middle East, ' we are 'led' to believe; this is a pure brazen LIE -- democracy means that everyone has VOTING rights, however, millions of Palestinians are DENIED voting rights in their own land. If Palestinians had voting rights and self-determination the political situation would be far from what it is today.

There are numerous other myths and lies promulgated by Israel too numerous to list here but the important reality today is the WORLD is waking up to the LIES and is supporting downtrodden, long-suffering Palestine. Hence we have desperate measures by the UK and US, as reported in the mass media, to broker a deal. However, based on previous experience all that has ever occurred is more slow genocide of Palestinians and more land grabs by Israel. Take a look at Israel's original 1967 borders and the amount of land stolen today!

British and American puppet leaders will just have to do better to convince an aware WORLD that genocidal, racist Israel should not be hauled before war crimes courts and held accountable for its ATROCIOUS treatment of non-Jewish human beings.

Now to the most important issue. When political institutions are corrupted and the State (democracy) is hijacked by criminals all that remains is the LAW! No people or nation should ever waive their legal rights especially when heinous crimes against humanity are involved. When all else fails the LAW remains to rebuild a just society! Choke on that REALITY you mass murdering Zionist filth -- as WE live and breathe your days are (LEGALLY) numbered.

At this critical historical juncture supporters of Israel risk losing the support of the GLOBAL masses. The confronting REALITY today is that people have had enough of Israel's bullying and unjustified extreme violence. The corporate mass media has failed to prevent the social and political education of the GLOBAL masses -- as a result, JUSTICE will be SERVED!

Report from The Guardian follows:

Britain ready to back Palestinian statehood at UN

by Ian Black

Britain is prepared to back a key vote recognising Palestinian statehood at the United Nations if Mahmoud Abbas pledges not to pursue Israel for war crimes and to resume peace talks.

Abbas, president of the Palestinian Authority, has called for Britain's backing in part because of its historic responsibility for Palestine. The government has previously refused, citing strong US and Israeli objections and fears of long-term damage to prospects for negotiations.

On Monday night, the government signalled it would change tack and vote yes if the Palestinians modified their application, which is to be debated by the UN general assembly in New York later this week. As a "non-member state", Palestine would have the same status as the Vatican.

Whitehall officials said the Palestinians were now being asked to refrain from applying for membership of the international criminal court or the international court of justice, which could both be used to pursue war crimes charges or other legal claims against Israel.

Abbas is also being asked to commit to an immediate resumption of peace talks "without preconditions" with Israel. The third condition is that the general assembly's resolution does not require the UN security council to follow suit.

The US and Israel have both hinted at possible retaliation if the vote goes ahead. Congress could block payments to the Palestinian Authority and Israel might freeze tax revenues it transfers under the 1993 Oslo agreement or, worse, withdraw from the agreement altogether. It could also annex West Bank settlements. Britain's position is that it wants to reduce the risk that such threats might be implemented and bolster Palestinian moderates.

France has already signalled that it will vote yes on Thursday, and the long-awaited vote is certain to pass as 132 UN members have recognised the state of Palestine. Decisions by Germany, Spain and Britain are still pending and Palestinians would clearly prefer a united EU position as counterweight to the US.

William Hague, the foreign secretary, discussed the issue on Monday with Abbas and the French foreign minister, Laurent Fabius, officials said.

Palestinian sources said Hillary Clinton, the US secretary of state, raised the issue with Abbas at his Ramallah headquarters last week, shortly before a ceasefire was agreed in the Gaza Strip, as had Tony Blair, the Quartet envoy.

Abbas has been widely seen to have been sidelined by his rivals in the Islamist movement Hamas, as well by his failure to win any concessions from Israel. Abbas, whose remit does not extend beyond the West Bank, hopes a strong yes vote will persuade Israel to return to talks after more than two years.

Officials in Ramallah have opposed surrendering on the ICC issue so it can be used as a bargaining chip in future, but views are thought to be divided. Abbas said at the weekend: "We are going to the UN fully confident in our steps. We will have our rights because you are with us."

Leila Shaïd, Palestine's representative to the EU, said: "After everything that has happened in the Arab spring, Britain can't pretend it is in favour of democracy in Libya, Syria and Egypt but accept the Palestinians continuing to live under occupation. As the former colonial power, Britain has a historic responsibility to Palestine. Britain is a very important country in the Middle East, it has extensive trade relations, and David Cameron should know he risks a popular backlash from Arab public opinion if he does not support us."

Palestinians have rejected the claim that they are acting unilaterally, calling the UN path "the ultimate expression of multilateralism". Israel's apparent opposition to unilateralism has not stopped it acting without agreement to build and expand settlements, they say.

© 2012 Guardian News and Media Limited

<http://www.guardian.co.uk/world/2012/nov/27/uk-ready-to-back-palestine-statehood>

---

Jungle Drum Prose/Poetry. <http://jungledrum.lingama.net/news/story-258.html>