

Shoreless Sea

international / poetry / post adrift in savage seas i sought refuge and found none

seeking a shore on which to rest i found none

pounded by waves and drowning i sought truth before my demise and found nothing almost dead, i realised the weight pulling me under was my seeking/desire ready to die, i released my desire/seeking i am now adrift on a buoyant, peaceful sea of limitless light
