Sing ...

by jude Wednesday, May 10 2017, 7:49am international / poetry / post ur sad and lonely song, u are not alone tho u imagine u are isolated by ur own mind u have built a prison for urself -- profoundly alone u sing ur haunting song which fills the hearts of the lost and forlorn but u are not alone i hear and see u suffering for nothing unable to see u are loved u left for what? the anxieties of ur upbringing and tragedies of ur experience which we all create unknowingly let it go, all of it, free urself open ur heart and receive, love abandons no-one but u do not know it ur song reaches to the marrow such is its haunting power, but how much more powerful is the love u deny urself?

we always find what we seek but few recognise it and so now u sing in ur loneliness for those that do not understand that love is easy tho we are taught to sabotage all that gives us life, purpose and Joy