

The Future for American Society -- Mob Rule

by slim Wednesday, May 31 2017, 1:37am

international / prose / post

The world leader in self-ishness and individualism, which of course is counter to the survival of humanity as a group, which species cooperated for the mutual good of all since humanity emerged from the caves, has now breached tipping point as a cohesive society.

American politics is characterized by lies, frauds, non-representation and outrageous criminal activity, particularly regarding foreign policy; the overt State has lost the confidence of the people as it is plain that the overt State serves the interests of the covert or deep state/shadow government of elite players -- how anyone in this unrepresentative group hopes that this situation could persist is beyond comprehension, however, as we see today, the same tired, transparent failed methods persist, as is clear with the behavior of the latest elite serving PUPPET president, who hasn't a clue what political day it is -- on every occasion he is forced to face REAL world leaders he makes a thorough ass and incompetent clown of himself, so what sustains him in power? Clearly, he has abandoned his promises to the people and now serves UNREPRESENTATIVE MINORITY deep state PLAYERS, or as he once put it, the "Washington swamp," and the WORLD knows it!

The Republic and democracy have clearly failed in the USA, blind freddy sees, so what is to become of American society? Clearly the same principles that apply to the ruling elites would apply to the American masses as they are mutually reflective, it's all about 'me, me, me, and fuck you,' as is apparent with US foreign policy!

Now, without the need for specialist analysis, where does that attitude lead? Of course to the fragmentation of the whole or group into self-seeking self-ish, minorities as are modeled on the current ruling elites, indeed, what is good for our rulers is good for us.

Various survivalist minority groups, already formed, would adopt the (non-survival) methods of the elites, that's 'me, me, me and fuck you,' remember, while completely ignoring law and ORDER? Of course the deep state has prepared for this outcome as is obvious. Their troops and regulatory slaves on minimum wages would be deployed against the masses when the masses are forced by circumstances to revolt, as by then it would become obvious to all that no-one else represents or serves their interests, in fact it would be every man for himself, which is the essence of capitalism and American society TODAY.

In a relatively short period those regulatory forces, police and military, employed by the mega-wealthy elites for twopence, would realize they are opposing and killing their own kind, but for whom, of course those that couldn't give a shit about the welfare of the people, plain to see, modern history verifies that fact. So if you possess the weaponry and arms why not target elites that are useless and easily overpowered cowards that always dupe others to do their dirty work. Yes indeed, it would mean disaster and devastation for the elites, which would be eliminated from the face of the earth, such is the unanimous hatred toward them -- some common ground at least!

Armed mobs would align themselves to various 'warlords' in order to survive, which would grow and diminish in conflict over necessary essential resources, as is the case today, with absolutely no regard for any law or other moral consideration. The USA itself would plummet into a real dog eat dog, no-rules society based on brute force, again as is evident today. So you see, this prediction is not clairvoyant, it is exactly the same deductive means that George Orwell utilized to accurately predict the future, as the future issues from the past and present, simple, isn't it?

Now imagine what happens with the elite's hand picked mercenaries/praetorian guard after the lower defense forces turn on them, they, the elite guards, as in ancient Rome, would assume rule over their masters, using them as puppets or later as target practice -- it's all so easily predicted, as indeed history repeats itself, especially in God forsaken America. So if you intend to survive arm yourself now before it's too late; the mormons also have three years food provisions that each family is instructed to store, so now you know another food source when markets and transport fail but beware, mormons are also capable of using weapons, indeed they are just another minority group.

This process which must eventuate is merely national character confronting itself, the same of course applies to people.

We could all, as Americans, look forward to a 'peachy' future if we do not assume authority NOW and restore our Republic to its former glory, based on the founding documents of our nation, which elite rulers consider to be 'pieces of paper.'

Jungle Drum Prose/Poetry. <http://jungledrum.lingama.net/news/story-2683.html>