

Common LIES and Political Deceptions

by james Saturday, Jun 10 2017, 12:17am

international / prose / post

I once told a friend that an intelligent person does not need to lie, he/she is able to use the truth in such a way that it would lead to the desired result -- in other words lying is for morons. Now notice how former FBI director Comey used the truth to roll Trump; indeed, it was how he arranged, strategised and PRESENTED the facts (HE recalled) that achieved the desired result, as his testimony to the SIC, if analysed, was entirely subjective. Planned and calculated 'honesty' is indeed a very powerful weapon in the right hands and unfortunately Trump is not clever enough to use truth to his advantage, in fact his pathological relationship with truth is strained to say the very least.

Now, if Comey could run rings around the U.S. Senate and Trump imagine what a really intelligent person could do, but we're safe, as the real intelligentsia have little to do with corrupt governments, criminal States and pathetic leaders like, Theresa May, Donald Trump, and Malcolm Turnbull of Australia, who is perhaps the most incompetent of them all.

A piece recently posted to this site helps considerably in understanding how corrupt and inept politicians, scripted by their consultants, deceive by allowing the masses to fill intentionally created 'empty spaces' in rhetoric with their hopes, desires and dreams -- read this very short piece and understand how it's done and remember the bigger fool is the masses for passively consuming and actively participating in a rhetorical con by injecting meaningless abstractions with subjective 'meaning.'

Whenever you detect any politician or other entity, including the media, employing these tactics realise you are being conned and if you are able -- I call on journalists -- DEMAND SPECIFICS, and then watch in amusement as lying politicians attempt to evade, obfuscate and fumble openly -- in other words, politicians that use the 'moving forward' abstract expression must be trounced for the lying, deceitful bastards they are, as 'moving forward' is an open ended essentially meaningless expression as it is non-specific, notwithstanding it is completely relative and vacuous in itself, though it works, as it subliminally requires media consumers, i.e., the last remnants of the public that bother to consume/believe transparent propaganda and 'perception management' tricks -- to deliver meaning, and THAT meaning is relative to the individual's desires, very neat indeed.

ALWAYS demand specifics when any political clown uses abstract terms, 'HOW, WHERE and to what do you refer specifically?', are always good strategies in nailing these simpleton liars and con artists -- have we got it now, mainstream puppet and inept journos, which tragic group continually falls for the run-around, or worse, are paid to add impetus to 'perception management' tricks?

