

Trump's LIES are a Given by zed Monday, Jun 26 2017, 7:04am

international / prose / post

I have no idea why the media and consequently, a large percentage of the population are focusing on Trump's pathological lying, as it is historically clear that all politicians lie through their teeth to gain office then renege on their promises, like 'draining the Washington swamp, jailing H. Clinton for her criminal offences and restoring a sane relationship with Russia' -- all lies, as was expected.

So what's new as they (politicians) always lie to the masses and then back-flip and take orders from elite vested interests that own both major parties -- a powerful shadow force indeed though it is easily dealt with via the democratic process?

When real effective solutions exist, who really is to blame for deceptive, duplicitous government, of course the masses, which must take FULL responsibility, as they constantly fall for the same tired old methods/lies and then fail to act when they are sold out, yet action is not only required but is a permanent cure. In the US the population is OBLIGED by the founding documents of the nation to remove any government that does not democratically represent the people which means revolt is legally sanctioned.

So in view of reality and the simplicity of curing all corrupt, duplicitous western governments the people have no excuse as they historically always take it up the arse. Democracy DOESN'T stop at voting it is a participatory, constant process. So what do you have to say about YOUR failures to rein in elite serving scoundrels that brazenly lie and pretend to represent you?

Need I continue to press the point? It's OUR call people, and if we fail to ACT then there are no grounds for complaint -- pure and simple.

The next time you pass by a mirror you would see clearly who is responsible for the criminal, lying governments we are forced to endure. It is little wonder why elite rulers consider populations expendable slaves, as clearly they understand that the masses are not worth a pinch of shit.

<https://www.commondreams.org/news/2017/06/24/trumps-lies-collected-works>

Jungle Drum Prose/Poetry. <http://jungledrum.lingama.net/news/story-2735.html>