

U.S./Trump Loses Face Over N. Korea

It hasn't gone unnoticed in international leadership circles, America has failed miserably to deal with N. Korea. Naval fleets were sent to the waters around the Korean peninsular while stupid Trump attempted to intimidate China's leader Xi with an illegal missile attack on Syria, while hosting a supposed diplomatic dinner, extremely bad form indeed but to be expected from rustic America.

Kim Jong Un celebrating successful launch of ICBM

Buffoon Trump boasted of the illegal Syrian missile attack to Xi, saying that all missiles hit their target precisely, "imagine that" he blurted to Xi, who remained completely composed and unaffected; Russian and other monitors soon exposed the fact that around a third of the 49 missiles strayed off-target, unlike Russia's precision missile attacks.

Of course Xi was unimpressed with Trump's gross and course behaviour, Asians are culturally very sensitive to diplomatic language and behaviour always preferring the subtle and oblique approach though the message is always sent. And do you know what Xi's message was/is to America? N. Korea is not a problem for China if left alone, it's AMERICA'S problem if it chooses to provoke -- straight over Trump's empty head.

Moron brute America is clueless regarding diplomatic behaviour, negotiations and civil protocols; America boasts its completely baseless 'exceptional' status and flouts numerous international laws and conventions to prove a (failed) point or in futile attempts to intimidate powerful nations -- well, all the illegalities and failures at intimidation have cost America and its lackey vassals, dearly -- the USA has completely lost FACE in Asia and Europe, plain to see.

Idiot Trump confronted with the glaring failures of his stupid intimidation tactics has resorted, like a child, to blaming China for HIS/America's gross failures in dealing with N. Korea, whose leader Kim Jong Un, I might add, is having a field day making a monkey out of Trump and Pentagon chiefs, who advised Trump to illegally launch a missile attack on Syria to make a point to Xi, pathetic!

So now the aware world is under no illusions that America is UNABLE to DEAL with diplomatic problems in a civilised fashion, accusing/yelling at Xi is truly pathetic as N. Korea is not a problem for China period, in other words Xi is not perturbed at this stage, which also explains why America is hell bent on escalating the 'crisis' it created.

It should also be stated that N. Korea has no ambitions outside the peninsular, it reacts every time stupid America and its lackey allies try to intimidate, as it knows from bitter experience in the Korean war that it is dealing with criminals -- specifically, the illegal use of biological and chemical weapons during that war -- and as we all know, the only thing that criminals understand is force; and so N. Korea displays what it could do if America interferes with its sovereign rights as an independent nation.

S. Korea and Japan are aware of the subtleties and have urged America to cease its idiotic and dangerous provocations, which of course leaves America without solutions as it clearly has no clue in relation to diplomatic means; the US in essence is the schoolyard bully we are all familiar with, and as we know a bully's reign is very short lived, in fact bullies always fail and self-destruct, as they have no other talents to save them in a civilised world -- and so I introduce America under Trump -- a circus of incompetent clowns, buffoons and mindless brutes, I here refer to the deep state and Trump in particular.

Witless team Trump and the Deep State are the best thing that could happen to America today, as no external assistance is required to see America brought to its knees by the P-R-O-V-E-N idiots and cowardly brutes that control it.

Continue to watch Trump as he tragically attempts to deflect HIS failure onto Xi, it's the cause of much mirth in Asia and Europe.

America is clearly in rapid decline and the N. Korean failure highlights the fact -- having an idiot, personality flawed errand boy for president clearly indicates as much. And for the American people that truly live in an American DREAM world, you can't solve a problem if you are not aware of it/reality, so keep consuming Trump news/tweets, which is a distraction strategy to avoid focus on political America, which is being consumed by a raging forest fire of stupidity and lack of SKILL from within, though it presents a very entertaining spectacle from abroad.

A nation of morons led by a moron can never succeed, simple as that. And be aware American dreamboats, that the international community sees your nakedness very clearly indeed. It's only a matter of a very short time and its over for America economically (greenback) and politically -- and guess who is to blame, morons? You are, you doodle dreamboats!
