

Trump: Dead Man Walking

by justin Monday, Aug 21 2017, 1:14am

international / prose / post

No matter which perspective you take, Trump is finished. Many informed analysts and commentators attribute his inglorious demise to the Washington swamp or deep state, however, they were simply the means by which Trump brought himself undone, perhaps the deep state realised that if they persisted in their orchestrated attacks/agenda to remove him from office, Trump would do the rest himself. And surely he has.

Incompetent Buffoon

Relentless pressure brings out the good and bad in any individual and 'Trumple-thin-skin' is no exception, in fact he is living proof that constant pressure either makes or breaks the individual. And now the entire WORLD sees Trump as the PATHETIC, incompetent leader, that he is, a braggart, narcissist (NPD) and an extremely flawed, pathological, infantile personality without any redeeming qualities whatsoever, the tragic end of a man that imagined running a country with a "you're fired", reality TV attitude would serve him in office. Well, not so, as politics requires NOUS and lots of it in the form of expert tactics and policy decisions, not immaturity and incompetence, which Trump has displayed via his infantile and impetuous twitter rants against all his critics and those that taunt him, yes taunt him knowing full well he is incapable of any sensible response.

Fate indeed has turned full circle on Trump as he faces being fired himself, some would say an appropriate end for an autocratic fascist dictator that failed miserably to deal with his enemies, Trump indeed is the biggest US loser of all, as his grotesque presidency verifies, the entire world could hardly believe that any nation would place such a bereft of skill child as leader of its nation.

Robert Mueller will destroy Trump, supported by those formerly in high office who Trump 'fired', particularly former FBI director, Jim Comey, who set the stage for Mueller though his testimony before the SIC was entirely subjective, and easily dealt with on that basis, but Comey planned it to perfection tactically -- review it on youtube and you would see how Comey scripted Trump's demise for others to follow.

Nevertheless, had Trump possessed even a modicum of stability/reason and sense he could have easily drained the Washington swamp with support from the people that voted him into office but he failed to capitalise/realise that a new unknown president that offered some hope had that strong card in his hand. Instead Trump took the path of a COWARD, and deferred, he tried but failed to appease his enemies, he deferred matters of foreign policy to the military the most inappropriate organisation of all for that task, as the military know only warfare, which road they promptly took bringing the entire world to the brink of a nuclear crisis, great choice for a civilian president who spends more time playing golf and ranting on twitter than developing functional policies for the nation; indeed Trump is clearly incapable as a political leader, he hasn't got a clue.

Business is easy compared to politics as corruption and underhand 'deals' are commonplace in business that is why Mueller has got Trump by the balls, a recent FBI raid on middle-man, Paul Manafort, who acted on Trump's behalf with the Russians who will no doubt soon cave under prosecutorial pressure and save himself by telling the Truth about Trump and his involvement with Russians. Even the co-author of the 'Art of the Deal,' has recently trashed Trump as a "sociopath" likely to destroy the world for his own miscalculated self-aggrandisement. Indeed, he knows Trump well, as history is replete with fallen dictatorial demagogues that tried but failed to conquer the world, whereas Trump couldn't even conquer Washington politicians and others against him in his own nation, huge fail.

Though it's not all bad, as the American people should have learned to question prospective leaders rather than fall for simplistic slogans; populations should always ask HOW a prospective leader would fulfil claims and promises, as clearly, Trump hasn't got a clue. Slogans are for simpletons and morons, as is now clearly evident, suck on it for a while America and never make the same mistake again. Question every prospective leader through the floor and only after they provide rational, functional and acceptable answers, vote for them.

I need not continue as the end for Trump is as easy to read as his infantile, pathological mind, Trump is a textbook case and though he may avoid prosecution if he RESIGNS, history will not be so kind, Trump will be recorded as an utter disgrace as a human being and leader, "YOU'RE FIRED!" How appropriate.

However, I would leave you dear readers with a quote from a recent article by Michael Payne:

"The Trump presidency has reached a point of no return. When he does resign, and it should be as soon as possible, this country, its people, together with the nations of the world, will breathe a sigh of relief, many believing that their prayers have been answered."

Good riddance to bad rubbish.

Jungle Drum Prose/Poetry. <http://jungledrum.lingama.net/news/story-2832.html>