

Trump's UN Speech Beyond the Pale

by drew Wednesday, Sep 20 2017, 1:06am

international / prose / post

Lunatic -- for the world to see -- president Donald Trump characteristically spewed vitriol, hatred, racism and utter destruction for 25 million innocent North Koreans by threatening to utterly destroy the entire nation if this spoiled brat doesn't get his own way. Had this speech been broadcast anytime in the second half of the 20th century Trump would have been immediately removed from office and incarcerated indefinitely in a psychiatric institution. However, clearly things have changed for the worse since the 20th century. Which is a sign of disastrous things to come as no-one would escape the impact/consequences of clearly insane world leaders today.

Now consider how we got here, on the eve of total destruction -- China and Russia would not sit by and watch NK vapourised as any destabilisation of NK affects both nations directly; some analysts believe that is the real intention of the US military which now dictates foreign policy to Trump as he willingly deferred this prerogative to the Pentagon, seem strange to you? No, if puppet Trump is merely a means to a pre-planned end.

Trump remains in power because he is representative of the majority of Americans and continues to have their support, regardless of how the mass media depicts his 'diminishing popularity.' Now, what this support indicates is that Trump is the people's leader, he clearly relates to their own pathologies as he would have been removed by now if he wasn't reflective/representative.

What Trump expressed at the UN without the slightest embarrassment, shame or doubt is unadulterated SOCIOPATHOLOGY, that is, the over inflation of self above all other considerations including of course the lack of sensitivity for the other, in this case the innocents of North Korean held in an iron grip by a dictatorship.

What Trump expressed to the WORLD is textbook mental illness, go to any public library and verify for yourselves, so we need not debate that FACT any longer -- the man is clearly nuts and unfit to rule anything and perhaps unfit to walk and infect the streets with his diatribes.

Now consider that only a few decades past ANYONE that spouted even a fraction of Trump's infantile pathological rhetoric/speech would have been immediately ostracised and lost any position they held in a sane society, but that is the point American SOCIETY is no longer sane, as is proven by the continuation of the Trump presidency, he was ELECTED by the majority of Americans and remains president while he compromises America's reputation on a daily basis, there has never been a more destructive president of the USA than Donald Trump -- which tenure indicates two possibilities: that the nation has fallen into an incurable pathological State and/or Trump is being utilised and protected by unseen, to the majority, interests/forces, in fact both deductions are correct regardless of which of many perspectives one takes.

It therefore is useless to appeal America's good sense as America is LOST. The issue now is for the INTERNATIONAL COMMUNITY and how it must deal with a destructive, powerful, INSANE global ENEMY -- this is nothing new to the world which has always prevailed over mass murdering, despotic nations led by lunatic rulers in the past and of course the world would prevail again, as no single nation is able to survive alone, regardless of its 'perceived' power -- history is replete with examples of the most powerful empires crumbling into dust and their lunatic rulers meeting their horrid fates.

America, its people, are RESPONSIBLE for Trump and the fact that he remains president. So we would address those that really rule the USA, the Zionist banker/gentile corporate, Wall Street milieu: if you value your lives and ill-gotten wealth then it's time to intervene as the world already is aware of who is ultimately responsibly for Trump and the current status quo, this warning of course includes servants or deep state players that serve these nefarious forces.

Now consider that America assassinates its own presidents when shadow government interests are threatened by one or more of their puppets and you begin to see how and why nutter Trump is actually protected and urged forward to pursue American hegemony via "perpetual war." What Trump articulates, as best as an illiterate moron is able, has all been encoded in more formal english in the PNAC doctrine, published for the world to see. So why the surprise over Trump's 'now shocking' outbursts.

I would add that if Trump honoured his commitment to the PEOPLE to "drain the Washington swamp" of the vipers (CFR/Zionist led neocons) that originally wrote the PNAC document he would not be president today. It becomes clear that if Trump failed to perform for the shadow government and deep state then he would either be dead or would have been deposed some time ago. So the above warning is targeted at the real problem and if America as a nation chooses to go down with the minority Wall Street 'ship' then so be it!

<https://tinyurl.com/yd5burwp>

Jungle Drum Prose/Poetry. <http://jungledrum.lingama.net/news/story-2884.html>