

Don't be a Sap -- there is no Such Thing as a Bloodless Revolution

by moderator Sunday, Sep 24 2017, 6:07am

international / prose / post

Most half-thinking people would refer to Gandhi's 'peaceful' revolution to gain Indian independence, which is misinformation as thousands of peaceful Indian demonstrators were mowed down by Imperial British machine guns. And if that is not enough to PROVE the point, consider Indian against Indian and the murderous ethnic cleansing that followed partition. In total, MILLIONS of Indians died as a result of independence. However, the cherry on the turd is the assassination of Gandhi himself. So forget bloodless revolutions, they have never existed historically in the past, present and never will in the future because, given human nature, it's impossible -- but don't tell that to the hamstrung politically correct left -- a league of self-castrating morons.

Real political change involves rivers of blood, that's why we see very few real revolutions today. People are acutely aware they'll be hammered if they try, so better 'a living dog than a dead lion', as the Jews say. Yet another crucifying adage, though, as is plainly evident, most of the world is now populated by trained, obedient 'dogs' pretending they are human beings -- not by a long shot. Humans FIGHT and fight like madmen when they have to -- wear it, it's the truth and the truth only shall set you free, NOT your learned political correctness and false notions.

So after a few of you that are still capable of independent thought, reflect on this issue, you too would realise that YOU MUST FIGHT if you wish to break your bonds of slavery and obtain your fair share from your now extremely UNFAIR and inequitable societies, or alternatively, continue to eat shit!

All States, including the U.S. (in 60's and 70's) engage in political targeted assassinations when things begin to unravel and depart from THE ELITE status quo and their privately owned velvet, but poison mass media. Everything you imbeciles imagine and think has been inculcated and you're unaware of the FACT -- fuck off, go follow Trump, we have no time for your inanities!

I have nothing more to say except keep your pacifist ignorance to yourselves, I am a very busy, involved and passionate, educated person, MORONS -- that means no more fuckin' uninformed emails, got it? Go and pay homage to Trump who shares your average intelligence and vocabulary and you can shove your political correctness up your stupid arses, geeesh!

Though for the very very few, FIGHT -- you KNOW you MUST.

Jungle Drum Prose/Poetry. <http://jungledrum.lingama.net/news/story-2894.html>