

Infants with Nuclear Weapons

The entire civilised world is tiring of the infantile bickering of two nuclear armed 'leaders' that clearly do not know, or worse, are unable to cease their childish bickering. Would YOU give your infant children loaded guns to play with, not a chance? So why would you give a nincompoop, personality flawed, imbecile with no political skills whatsoever, nuclear weapons to play with? Yes, the American people must take responsibility for Trump, as they installed an idiot narcissist bereft of all diplomatic and political skills into the highest office in the land. And note, no sooner than Trump became commander-in-chief he deferred that role to the Pentagon, which today decides foreign policy, advised of course by the agencies, which have always worked hand-in-glove with the military. And what does the military know? WAR and combat ONLY. So is it a surprise that all we hear is radio, war, war, bark, bark!

NOW, the patience of the GLOBAL population has been tried to the nth degree and clearly all sensible people are wondering how the current state of affairs was allowed to happen. Well the short answer is authoritarian rule and dictatorship, hard and soft. Indeed, NK has an iron-fisted dictatorship, however, America is clearly a soft-fisted dictatorship, clearly both leaders do NOT represent the wishes of the people. So why put up with children playing with nuclear weapons, which dangerous pursuit threatens ALL our lives?

Again the short and accurate answer is, we need not, though political change is more difficult in an iron-fisted dictatorship than one that uses velvet gloves to manage its population. We know that the privately owned American mass media specialises in disseminating misinformation, propaganda and outright LIES to an enthralled public, which continues to CONSUME the lies, misrepresentations and distortions, as truth.

The result is Americans are divorced from reality and therefore tolerate all manner of idiocies such as an incompetent buffoon unnecessarily threatening nuclear war, while North Koreans have little or no choice. However, the rest of the WORLD does have a choice, as it sees clearly from the outside the pathetic and extremely dangerous infantile antics of both leaders. So the solution, which MUST be imposed on these two disgraceful nations, is to force the cessation of these childish dangerous games and enter into peaceful diplomatic negotiations to resolve the manufactured and now out of control, crisis, which the American ruling elite are loath to do, as they do not possess the diplomatic skills required to diffuse a potentially cataclysmic situation which now threatens the lives of billions of people.

When your unruly child refuses to listen to good sense and hand over his loaded gun it must be taken from him, that simple. Since when are civilised nations required to tolerate such unnecessary dangers which are easily avoided by sane, mature, unified commitments/pressure?

Please answer that question for me and yourselves, it may help you snap out of your induced paralysis.

NO-ONE should or need tolerate the current ridiculous and dangerous antics between Trump and Kim. Readers would note that Russia and China have shared land borders with NK for centuries and YET they have NEVER had any major problems with NK. But then their leaderships favour sanity, mature negotiations and favourable outcomes. It takes TWO to argue and fight, if one refuses to play the other is left to face themselves, while the WORLD stands guard.

In conclusion, for those that imagine the USA is not a dictatorship, I refer you to the Boston lockdown by paramilitary police and military personnel which were given sweeping home intrusion powers in search of ONE mortally wounded teenager. The FACT that the entire population of an American capital city passively complied to this completely inappropriate, outrageous, unnecessary overkill and illogic -- as standard detective-work could have done a much better job -- proves that America is indeed in the grip of a police/military dictatorship. Americans, since the Mayflower landed, have always been subject to authoritarian rule in one form or another. However, in any so-called democracy people continue to have powers to remove their leaders when they unnecessarily threaten the peace of the entire WORLD.
