

Sleep

by lex Tuesday, Sep 26 2017, 11:57pm international / poetry / post let it sleep a while like a coiled serpent always ready to strike until the Soma flows filling the universe let the cooling winds (vayu) soothe the earth and the rains replenish the ground on which u rest let the wheels turn effortlessly those u set in motion before the beginning of time, sleep easy my love sleep the sleep of perfection dreaming universes in and out of existence fill space with ur sparkling fire-dust to condense into suns and planets, spin the galaxies like open flowers waiting for fertilisation when ur slumber ends dream dreams of love and perfection that i may live forever in u and allow all that chase hell to speedily find their reward, there is nothing that could disturb ur repose maintain ur ineffable beauty and perfect justice without which existence would end in ruin lay with me until i am no more allow what's left to awake in u but for now, stay a while at the lower orb comfort and fortify my body and soul for the next round of existence my last victory was total already won by u, the following battle was purely a drama an audience's delight,

let them marvel in awe and perhaps a few might join us in eternity

---

Jungle Drum Prose/Poetry. <http://jungledrum.lingama.net/news/story-2898.html>