

Meru

by sadh Sunday, Oct 8 2017, 11:06am international / poetry / post black fire drapes ur face and flows down ur neck like a suspended rolling sea, it consumes every particle of my being,

willingly offered

riding your back, gallop and prance like the wildness u are -- flashing black eyes that burn thru me paralysing my volition i could never be moved from my stronghold until u entered my sphere, temptress, pythoness coiling around my spine rising, whipping my brain in ecstasy

flying,
one leg kicking high exposing ur naked jeweled vulva, moisture running down ur thighs and up my spine like mighty rivers

embraced, twirling like intoxicated dervishes until the fluid fire fuses two souls into one quivering in unbearable delight more intoxicating than the ambrosia consumed by gods that kneel before us

spinning, dragging universes into our orb until light is unable to escape -- devoured, ur blackness devours everything drowning in ur dark fire until a shimmer begins to move in me and spurt white light so bright it consumes ur blackness one alternating with the other until all is gained and lost simultaneously my (nuclear) Himalayan yogini

Jungle Drum Prose/Poetry. <http://jungledrum.lingama.net/news/story-2923.html>