

'The Small always Overcomes the Large'

The title is actually a military adage, which is as old as warfare. Consider the biblical allegory of David and Goliath, how a lumbering highly equipped with 'superior' armaments, giant of a man was defeated by the agility, speed and cunning of a small boy with an effective (in the right hands/application) 'primitive' weapon, and it was used to great effect, which is the essential transmission/message of the story. In fact, as history records numerous times, the bigger they are the more likely the chances of being defeated by a much smaller, agile force -- and I use 'agile' to cover tactics and strategy as well as lightning response and astounding 'physical' maneuverability.

Modern warfare is all about asymmetry and stealth, the large (States) continue to produce cumbersome antiquated military equipment at HUGE expense, which are destroyed in battle by smaller more agile and inexpensive digital and physical weapons -- aircraft carriers for instance cost $billions and take inordinate lengths of time to produce, whereas anti-carrier tactically armed, digitally superior, missiles cost, relatively speaking, almost nothing in comparison and are able to be produced in quantity at remarkable speed. Much of America's weaponry and military equipment amounts to death traps for its military personnel today, yet the hulking giant continues to produce antiquated equipment (steel coffins), which would see it defeated as sure as night follows day.

China and Russia have far more sophisticated, practical and more advanced weaponry than the USA, which has surrendered its weapons design and manufacture to profit-only-driven corporate interests, which of course are focused PRIMARILY on profit, not the most advanced equipment and technology and therein lies America's/capitalism's inevitable defeat, as surely as Goliath was decapitated by his own sword after a much more agile weapon rendered him totally defenseless and vulnerable.

The same applies to cyber warfare, which was predicted well before America realised that the internet and other digital technologies allowed single players (elite hackers) to reduce 'powerful' states to chaos and eventual paralysis. And so our prediction, published 15 years past, has become reality today; however, as was stated, America and its vassals were/are far too slow to respond to the speed, stealth and skill of Russian and Eastern European elite hackers, which have been wreaking havoc/ruin on enemy nations, though China, Iran and other Asian players have learned fast, but once a lead is established in the digital arena it is easily maintained, so others are doomed to lag behind much to their future cost and ruin.

However, the field in which we specialise today is the weaponising of an analytical medium, "Semiology," which is the careful study/analysis of signs and symbols utilised in all forms of communications, or 'language,' to use a loose term in a very broad sense. Here I do not refer specifically to the spoken word but every image, text sound and art-effect produced by any culture by which it is self-enslaved; indeed, it is the chains of 'language' that necessarily bind all cultures, so any expert in the field is able to subvert, using the very foundation of a culture, that culture itself.

Which leads and statements now beg for proof, which we happily submit to the entire world in the form of Donald Trump as president of the USA -- ROFL -- we can hardly contain ourselves -- who was not positioned to assume the presidency by Russia, which played a very minor self-interested role but by other experts located in almost every developed and developing nation; indeed real globalisation applies to everyone that chooses and possesses the skill-sets, to be borderless.

However, the facile/banal American press is addicted to the single bogeyman theory of responsibility, of course nothing could be further from the TRUTH/Reality, but because America is essentially a rustic brutal nation with a simplistic attitude, it prefers and would always present simplistic (you're either with us or against us!) answers to very profound and extremely intricate situations.

Now, we do not intend to reveal how semiotic disciplines are used in warfare, usually in tandem with uber hackers, as we and you, should be aware that it is plain to see and utilise if you possess the awareness and skill.

This extremely under-utilised, new, highly deadly weapon is able to be utilised by the highly skilled, agile and essentially INVISIBLE elite warriors of today; it also elevates the internet activist fighter to the same level of elite hackers in theory, though the other would beg to differ; however, today both are essentially compatriots in 'arms,' whether they like it or not; for instance, you would never find one of our warriors incarcerated or self-incarcerated like fledgling Julian Assange, we fight to maintain FREEDOM, and therefore remain FREE by example, unlike poor Julian whose dick and ego essentially brought him undone.

Now note the similarities between semioticians and hackers they both utilise, to great effect, signs, symbols language/CODE to defeat the enemy of all nations and free spirits, the totalitarian, would be world conquering, USA -- now note how America is going down faster than any other developed nation today, FACT, again plain to see, analyse and ATTACK.
