

The Cyber Elite

by tom & jerry Tuesday, Dec 26 2017, 10:33pm

international / prose / post

Get with it children, there is only one HUGE avenue to freedom left in the world today and that avenue is traversed with a keyboard.

Cyber elites are able to appropriate as much money as they need -- without trace -- if the average person knew how much major banks lose to cyber elites they would bury their money in the backyard. Banks never report the hundreds of $billions in total they lose to cyber elites yearly for obvious reasons -- loss of confidence.

Military and government agency hackers are at least 10 steps behind cyber elites, in fact they have no idea who they are or where they emanate from as the internet and its communication protocols were not designed to identify though novices are usually easily detected -- it's a matter of SKILL and no government in the world matches the skills of the cyber elite. The recent heist of $85 million in Bitcoins from a Slovenian company is child's play, $billions are extracted from banks and financial institutions throughout the world, and there's nothing they able to do to prevent these attacks.

Almost every government department has been hacked to ribbons though these departments know nothing of the stealth tactics and the identity of the hackers roaming freely through their networks, all that is required is one machine that is connected to the internet and internal networks and it's tat tar feeble security, which is usually installed by third or fifth rate burned-out hackers. That is the current reality.

All communications and remote operations that span the globe are easily hacked, which means all elite plans and controls -- satellites, weapons systems etc -- are at the mercy of elite cyber operators; nefarious plans of the old-world financial elites are known in advance of their implementation, such is the nature of the digital world; SKILL reigns SUPREME, and the gained knowledge allows for many legitimate transactions which has created another world populated by cyber elites and their impeccable reputation business partners.

Are the people even slightly aware of this reality? Of course not, as the privately owned, CFR directed, mass media works hand in glove with nefarious financial elites to distract, blind and misinform; you are fed Trump on a daily basis on the mass AND alternative media, so what would you really KNOW, jack shit or the equivalent in lies, propaganda and distractions.

It is a supreme irony that the surveillance state and agencies have actually created the means by which elite cyber operators work their magic. Consider only one social aspect. While the entire population is distracted and fed shit by the media, in order for the mass murdering and enslaving ruling elites to do their dirty work behind the scenes, a massive opportunity presents itself, as the VEIL has already been created by the nefarious elites, behind which they operate as do stealthy cyber operators, LOL! Thanks for doing all the heavy lifting, clowns, everything you create and do in the digital world is taken advantage of, why look a gift horse in the mouth?

While the US Congress is faced with passing the 702 surveillance act (on everyone) yet again, security is already in tatters, notwithstanding if 702 wasn't passed, the CIA and other agencies would continue to perpetrate their vile crimes against innocent people everywhere. Nevertheless, SKILL opens channels you could drive a truck through, it's all to no avail yet the economically enslaved, useless and supremely COWARDLY masses continue to take up the arse, indeed, a slave and coward is fit for his/her chains and the pathetic privacy-devoid lives they lead, eat shit and enjoy it, you deserve what you get and you're lucky to get the crumbs elites allow you to fight over when in reality you could take it ALL with a little unity, but alienate, divide and conquer works today as it has always done throughout history, so slaves, for God's sake never unite, suck on your cowardice and uselessness instead.

Allow me to state that the cyber elite in contrast, possess COURAGE as when they ventured into prohibited areas in their early development they were aware of the consequences, poor Aaron Swartz intimidated into suicide for downloading documents from Jstor, for Christ's sake, we all learned then that the 'man' was our enemy and against freedom and would kill us all if he had the chance.

So do not imagine for an instant that the cyber elite lack courage and daring as these two qualities, combined with supreme skill, continue to form the emerging digital elites which are nurtured by existing groups, we detect early those that have talent and assist, while the slaves fight each other instead of their real ENEMY. So do not expect assistance from us, until you demonstrate that you are worth the trouble and risk.

Meanwhile be sure to read the media, stay dumb and blind to reality and continue to be exploited by those that could care less for your interests and welfare, you pathetic gutless drones. And as for the agencies reading this, do your fifth rate best, peel away at the layers of the onion until you reach the last layer and realise nothing exists at the centre, we are not structured centrally like you, a supreme weakness, you should know by now that genius and extraordinary SKILL spontaneously appears in the most unlikely places. If there is a structure it is in constant flux and moves continually out not in to a traceable centre, you dumb fucks.

Killing and jailing us for our talents in the past has taught us well who our REAL enemy is; NOW launch your planned, pre-emptive war and get the SHOCK of your fuckin' lives!

You are NOW jointly and specifically targeted and the resulting attacks would shock the world and demolish existing ideological and real structures. Tat tar, OLD WORLD!

<http://www.informationclearinghouse.info/48493.htm>

---

Jungle Drum Prose/Poetry. <http://jungledrum.lingama.net/news/story-3078.html>