

US Prepares for yet Another Illegal Proxy War in Syria

by Alex Gorka via gail - Strategic Culture Foundation Saturday, Dec 30 2017, 7:31pm

international / prose / post

After the Islamic State proxy fighting group was roundly defeated in Syria by Russia and its allies, the USA illegitimately and ILLEGALLY continues to occupy Syria and arm, train and supply the Kurdish YPG separatist group with modern weaponry to re-ignite the conflict. The US is doing all this in plain sight of other nations and so one can only wonder why the rest of the world sits back idly and allows the needless killing and destabilisation to continue. America's current subversive actions are totally illegal as is its continuing occupation of Syria, so WHY are other nations doing nothing to end the crisis, particularly Russia and China? It stinks as it's all being done OVERTLY without the least regard for international laws and conventions.

However, there is a credible answer to all this insanity and needless mass murder.

Note that Putin's personal wealth exceeds $250 billion and China's largest investors are mega-wealthy European banking families that control the city of London, Wall Street and other crucial economic/financial centres.

It seems that these wars of resource theft, strategic land grabs and pipeline corridors are really being waged in the interests of financial interests and forces that have various if not all major world leaders in their pockets, would anyone care to explain how Putin accumulated his personal wealth as there is no way his wages as a politician could account for $250 billion; indeed if Putin's wealth alone were investigated and audited, as most is ferreted away in WESTERN banks then indeed the world would be able to reveal those forces behind all 21st century wars.

One need only hearken back to the cold war before these financial families achieved complete global control to see that clear opposing delineations existed between superpowers. Now ask yourself why thoroughly corrupt Putin hesitated in his highly successful attack on Syrian proxy forces? It seems that Putin was shocked at the speed and success of his own fighting forces. He allowed the US time and again to stall his offensive with transparent, toilet-paper thin AMERICAN LIES, which delays America utilised to re-group, re-supply and re-arm proxy fighting groups in Syria, which overtly ILLEGAL actions extended the war unnecessarily. Numerous mainstream media outlets also noted these extraordinary highly unusual events. Had Russia pursued its devastating shock tactics on IS and various other proxy fighting groups the war would have been won in a matter of weeks BUT PUTIN STALLED against ALL known military tactics and the advice of his generals -- now you tell me WHY? Add to that WHY Russia, China and Europe allow the USA to remain in Syria ILLEGALLY and once again prepare their new proxy (YPG) for more needless conflict.

Of course the real rulers of the world are also aware that Putin and his corruption money is the key to their EXPOSURE. So Vladimir, enjoy your short-lived future as your masters view all world leaders that threaten, intentionally or unintentionally, to expose them as the evil scourge of the earth, as EXPENDABLE.

Article detailing America's current CRIMINAL antics follows:

This is a classic example of flip-flop deceitful policy. In November, the US promised Turkey to stop arming Kurdish militias in Syria after the Islamic State was routed. Brett McGurk, the US Special Presidential Envoy to the Global Coalition to Defeat Islamic State, explained that after the urban fighting in Raqqa was over "adjustments in the level of military support" would be made. "We had to give some equipment – and it's limited, extremely limited – all of which was very transparent to our NATO ally, Turkey," he said during a special briefing on December 21. In June, the US told Turkey it would take back weapons supplied to the Kurdish the People's Protection Units (YPG) militia in northern Syria after the defeat of Islamic State.

But sophisticated weapons will continue to be sent to Syria in 2018, including thousands of anti-tank rocket launchers, heat seeking missiles and rocket launchers. The list of weaponry and equipment was prepared by US Department of Defense as part of the 2018 defense budget and signed by Trump of Dec. 12. It includes more than 300 non-tactical vehicles, 60 nonstandard vehicles, and 30 earth-moving vehicles to assist with the construction of outposts or operations staging areas. The US defense spending bill for 2018 ("Justification for FY 2018 Overseas Contingency Operations / Counter-Islamic State of Iraq and Syria Train and Equip Fund") includes providing weapons worth $393 million to US partners in Syria. Overall, $500 million, roughly $70 million more than last year, are to be spent on Syria Train and Equip requirements. The partners are the Kurds-dominated Syria Democratic Forces (SDF). The YPG – the group that is a major concern of Turkey – is the backbone of this force.

The budget does not refer to Syrian Democratic Forces (SDF) but instead says "Vetted Syrian Opposition". According to the budget list, there are 25,000 opposition forces supported as a part of the train and equip program in Syria. That number is planned to be increased to 30,000 in 2018. The arming of Kurdish militants with anti-tank rockets is a sensitive topic because of Turkey's reliance on its armored Leopard tanks in northern Syria.

Talal Sillo, a former high-ranking commander and spokesperson of the US-backed SDF, who defected from the group last month to go to Turkey, divulged details of the US arming the Kurdish group.

The list does not detail which vetted Syrian groups will receive certain pieces of equipment. In northern Syria, there is the SDF, including the YPG, and the Syria Arab Coalition — a group of Arab fighters incorporated into the SDF. The Maghawir al-Thawra and Shohada al-Quartayn groups are operating in the southeastern part of Syria. They are being trained by US and British instructors at the al-Tanf border crossing between Syria and Iraq.

Besides the SDF and the groups trained at al-Tanf, the US is in the process of creating the New Syria Army to fight the Syrian government forces. The training is taking place at the Syrian Hasakah refugee camp located 70 kilometers from the border of Turkey and 50 kilometers from the border of Iraq.

Around 40 Syria opposition groups on Dec. 25 rejected to attend the planned Sochi conference on Syria scheduled to take place in January. They said Moscow, which organizes the conference, was seeking to bypass the UN-based Geneva peace process, despite the fact that UN Syria envoy Staffan de Mistura said that Russia's plan to convene the congress should be assessed by its ability to contribute to and support the UN-led Geneva talks on ending the war in Syria. If fighting starts, these groups are likely to join the formations created by the US.

So, the United States not only maintains its ILLEGAL military presence in Syria and creates new forces to fight against the Syrian government, it appears to be preparing for a new war to follow the Islamic State's defeat. The continuation of arming and training Kurdish militias will hardly improve Washington's relations with Ankara, while saying one thing and doing another undermines the credibility of the United States as a partner.

Copyright applies to external text.

<https://www.strategic-culture.org/news/2017/12/29/all-not-quiet-on-syrian-front-us-launch-another-war.html>

Jungle Drum Prose/Poetry. <http://jungledrum.lingama.net/news/story-3083.html>