

Her

by ryall Monday, Feb 4 2013, 12:36pm

international / poetry / post

(Hymn to the Goddess)

where r u
when i need u?

on the wind
ever about u

what of my needs?

closer than
ur beating heart,
be still and allow me
to envelop u

but i long for u

i have never left ur presence ur mind agitates the sea and u fail to see (me)

but i need ur reassurance, proximity how much closer can i be than inside ur heart, mind and soul?

u r the object of all my love;
ceaseless is my passion and desire for u after all this time ur passion, love and desire i amplify and return to u ten-fold until a raging furnace burns in ur being for me alone

i am carried, transported, ur enduring affection sustains me

i am the scent of spring the warmth of summer

the cool of autumn
and the crisp winter
chill
wherefore do u not find me?

u saw me in a smile
tonight
u heard me in her laughter u touched me when u embraced her body

as the sea envelops the world i covered ur/her nakedness with my being i coursed with u in the throes of passion

float now in my sea of ecstasy and peace,
rest in my arms
breath easily and sleep; i will deliver
dreams of glory

i have marked
a trail for u to follow it leads to always/eternity to my heart
which contains
all creation,
you are a most welcome son

be vigilant
finish what u started,
do not waver and i will ensure final victory and complete fulfilment