

Your Cowardice Leads Directly to Your Enslavement

by jude Sunday, Feb 17 2013, 8:41am

international / prose / post

The corporate media goes to great pains never to mention a simple home truth, which is behind all today's political and social ills and is also the key to finding a solution to the current social decline.

Watching the USA contracting and becoming an 'indefinite detention,' 'kill list,' surveillance, totalitarian police State is not only deeply tragic it is sickening to watch in view of America's noble revolutionary past.

In only a few short decades most hard-won civil/personal liberties have been lost to unrepresentative criminal elite forces that have stolen America's wealth/democracy and now control the White House.

The USA today is hardly recognisable as the free and brave democratic nation it once was; in view of such a dramatic and rapid ideological reversal, searching for root causes becomes imperative. Indeed, clear causes are always behind dramatic events that change the direction of nations and dramatically alter social circumstances.

If we investigate the causative factors we soon discover that one factor stands out above the rest as the principal cause/foundation upon which all other change has occurred. And as the title suggests, FEAR is behind America's rapid decline into a lawless, police, totalitarian, criminal State.

All the social/political discourse in America today is immaterial if the fear factor is avoided. There is nothing more personally and socially paralysing than FEAR!

It is YOUR cowardice that allows others to enslave and terrorise you.

It immediately becomes apparent that continually 'pointing the finger' at others is avoiding the issue. The first and final r/evolution is with Self; liberate yourself from your fears and delusions and no-one/no-thing will ever again have dominion over you again. The challenge and responsibility is YOURS alone.

Jungle Drum Prose/Poetry. <http://jungledrum.lingama.net/news/story-417.html>