

Middle East tour - Obama is Expendable

by ned Wednesday, Mar 20 2013, 5:06am

international / prose / post

Worth More Dead Than Alive

The price of selling your soul to the devil or nefarious criminal ruling elites is that you become an expendable asset. At the present time of total disillusionment with American politics/leadership, Obama's masters must be aware, as most commentators are aware that an assassinated Obama has far more currency and political value than a lying, transparent, well past 'use-by date,' puppet politician.

The well known adage here applies, 'desperate times require desperate measures;' it should also be noted that historically, servants have always been sacrificed for their master's welfare, especially shameless lackeys like Obama.

In Oz, a betting nation, I believe bookies are taking bets that Obama will not make it back to the US alive.

Obama went in with his eyes wide open, he may well leave with his eyes permanently shut; notwithstanding that this piece may have saved his traitorous, lackey life.

<http://www.abc.net.au/news/2013-03-20/obama-arrives-in-israel-for-symbolic-visit/4585274>