

Delusionist Journalists: what is the Internet if not the most sophisticated form of mass media?

by dasha Thursday, May 9 2013, 10:51pm

international / prose / post

It's amazing how blind some specialists appear to be. Since the advent of the print media, then film, radio, TV -- and now the slave inducing digital 'revolution' -- the mass media has been utilised as a tool by the ruling powers, so why the surprise when ruling elites appropriated and began to manage (censor) and exploit the digital world/Internet? You reading this, Pilger?

I just read your very nostalgic piece about your experiences with the mass media in Oz and the magnates that owned it at the time, so what's new John, nothing except everyone (but the digitally savvy) failed to see digital enslavement coming? Walk around town and witness for yourself the ubiquitous digital chains that enslave today, almost everyone on the move has their noses buried in a 'smart phone' or rather, a digital "surveillance device that also makes calls" -- you dumb fucks, yes you, morons, never forget the slogan on this site -- "the price of ignorance is SLAVERY," and the moron hordes are not only enslaved but as Voltaire once put it, they 'revere their chains!'

Even your narcissist mate Assange was caught in the delusion of a free Internet -- what a thorough absurdity when history so CLEARLY spelled otherwise; he didn't see it coming until it was too late, he failed as a HACKER, which remains the only efficient form of resistance and path to freedom TODAY. Assange preferred to become known and then of course crucified -- I could have written the script myself; the cardinal rule for ALL HACKERS is fuckin' ANONYMITY, for fucks sake! Break that rule at your own peril, as your narcissistic mate discovered.

If you had any idea how inefficient and thoroughly inept the powers and their teams of fifth-rate lackeys are, you would not hesitate to join the fray and fight to restore democracy and freedom to the world, but you're all too busy being self-indulgent, so the task falls to the capable few; tiny but exceedingly skilled groups throughout the world -- probably numbering less than one hundred -- they are the elite of the elite. No-one except those that discover that realm are aware of its existence and no-one knows anyone's real identity -- anonymity is observed religiously without reference or mention.

So, John, do you and your comrades capitulate or do you 'get with it' and realise you live in the 21st fuckin' century and that its an open field of OPPORTUNITY out there; it's without doubt the freest and most rewarding century for the skilled that has ever existed, FACT!

Nevertheless, everyone is able to do something so why not DEMAND that KNOWN war criminals Bush, Blair and Howard -- formerly the coalition of willing criminals -- be placed on trial for their KNOWN heinous war and other crimes against humanity? It's common knowledge and all the evidence is freely available in the public domain. The traditional media is perfectly suited for the task, John, pull your head out of your nostalgic arse and do your best; and leave the heavy lifting to us.

I reiterate, this is the freest century that has ever presented itself, it's only well crafted mainstream propaganda that implies otherwise; THINK, act and liberate yourselves, it's open slather out there!

WE are One or we are nothing.

<http://www.informationclearinghouse.info/article34879.htm>

Jungle Drum Prose/Poetry. <http://jungledrum.lingama.net/news/story-545.html>