

Utter Contempt for the People

by slim Saturday, Jun 8 2013, 11:43am

international / prose / post

Recent revelations about global data-mining by large American IT corporations such as, Google, Apple, Facebook, Yahoo etc., display the utter contempt large American corporations, and their puppet politicians, have for the privacy rights of citizens. It seems that the ANONYMITY cardinal rule for HACKERS should now also apply to the broader community.

Before proceeding a word about the 'fine print'; Google, the most data-invasive company on earth -- quite a distinction Mr Chairwoman, Eric 'Bilderberg' Schmidt -- makes a point to state in the fine print that all data you enter on their site becomes the property of Google to do with as they see fit; you will also note that CIA backed Facebook and other large IT companies share that outrageous policy, so there's no crying foul as seems to be the case at the moment.

I have lost count of the amount of times Google has tried unsuccessfully to obtain my cell-phone number under the guise of securing my (aliased) email account; but what I find more disturbing is the blasé approach users have about supplying sensitive personal information, including mobile phone numbers to perfect strangers in the naive hope that it won't be used against them!

Of course, supplying the amount of data that Google or Facebook request virtually enslaves you to whoever has the means and/or ability to use/mine that data -- and that includes all law enforcement, intelligence agencies, governments AND HACKERS, as the data is stored online in extremely vulnerable 'cloud systems.' [I have just been seized by the sudden urge to scream, YOU DUMB, MINDLESS FUCKS but am resisting the temptation as I have been advised not to offend readers, as if I could give a fuck about the mindless moronic masses that deserve EVERYTHING they get for their COWARDICE and STUPIDITY, you fuckin' IMBECILES!]

Make no mistake, I write for the exceptional individuals and emerging elite hackers that we are not aware of as yet and other persons with exceptional skills/genius that EASILY see through the tissue-thin machinations of totalitarian cabals/corporations and their puppet governments.

In recent statements and interviews Google 'Chairwoman', Eric 'sweetie' Schmidt, flippantly stated that personal privacy is a thing of the past and is virtually non-existent today (he should know), though he should have qualified -- for the moronic masses -- as I have always made it a point never to use any real identifiers online or perform any online financial transactions. Cash is still king for the privacy conscious. In fact, I supply absolutely zero traceable information to any amoral Corporation online, which has resulted in a very high degree of privacy and personal SECURITY, eat your heart out, NSA.

Now that you are aware of the contempt I have for the moronic masses I would state that only one group exceeds my contempt for the masses and that is the corporatist-banker cabals that rule the globe at this point in time. You see, these invasions and abuses of privacy are for the most part perfectly legal. So, morons, just 'cop it sweet' and don't forget to vote for one of the two BOUGHT major parties.

"Those who would sacrifice freedom for security deserve neither." -- Benjamin Franklin

"Go back to bed America your government is taking good care of you." -- Bill Hicks

Postscript:

Without exception, ALL the problems the world faces today are attributable to the inaction and cowardice of the people.

Jungle Drum Prose/Poetry. <http://jungledrum.lingama.net/news/story-611.html>