

Murdoch Paper The Australian, finally prints Truth about Gillard

by larry Monday, Jun 10 2013, 8:23am

international / prose / post

"Julia Gillard to Kevin Rudd: I'm going nowhere"

Most Aussies would remember Rudd's infamous lunch (job interview) with Rupert Murdoch in New York, after which Rudd emerged with a beaming smile; Murdoch for his part, said he thought Rudd, "would make a good Prime Minister," and that was that; Australia had to suffer an intolerable ego maniac that pandered to the cameras rather than getting down to the business of running the country.

Rudd and Gillard, servants to Big Business interests

Rudd soon became a very well known quantity in Oz, some of the unflattering nick names he earned during his first year as PM are; 'show pony, hair dryer, do-nothing, hand mirror, photo-op Rudd; the list goes on but would fill the page; however, one published remark is worth mentioning, as it reveals ALL about today's REVILED Labor Party.

The media published a remark made by Rudd during a conversation with Labor colleague, Peter 'backflip' Garrett, "when we win office we won't have to do anything," which made it very clear that Murdoch and the Plutocrats would be running the show and determining policy for Rudd.

Rudd would be as compliant a servant to unrepresentative moneyed elites as former conservative PM, John Howard, as long as Rudd had a hand mirror and camera close to his face he would pose no problem for minority elites.

Rudd's style of 'non-leadership' soon earned him the disfavour of his colleagues; after a very short tenure, Rudd's deputy, Julia Gillard signalled the Plutocrats that she was their girl by announcing she would allow Corporate bosses the unprecedented power to spy on the private emails and other digital communications of their employees. Gillard then treacherously stabbed Rudd in the back, took the leadership and became the most servile to big business and Washington, PM Oz has ever known -- and Rudd never got over the backstabbing by Gillard -- how dare she steal the limelight from Australia's leading narcissist!

It's now just nine weeks before the Federal election and supremely insular Gillard needs all the support she can get -- school children have taken to throwing their lunch sandwiches at her when she unwisely visits schools -- but Rudd, ever intent on revenge, has emerged from backbench shadows and has taken centre stage in the media pretending to campaign for Gillard and the Party.

Right on cue the press dutifully resurrects the poll-destroying leadership debate again and it's all but over for the most insular and reviled PM Oz has ever known.

Whether it was accidental or intentional the Murdoch Press published a story today titled, "Julia Gillard to Kevin Rudd: I'm going nowhere;" well, never a truer headline was ever published about Gillard -- take it literally!

The primary reason Labor faces an inevitable slaughter is that it has abandoned its traditional support base, the workers, and has pandered to elitist Plutocrats. Of course Gillard's inept lying about the carbon tax and everything else, will assist in the slaughter and eject Labor into the political wilderness for decades; but we should never forget the REAL reason is that Labor no longer has the support of average Aussies -- which constitute the vast MAJORITY of voters!

In conclusion, I would not be exaggerating if I stated that average Aussies would rather step in dog shit than look at Gillard's face or listen to her cat-howling traitorous voice -- and to all Labor would be's in the future; Australia will not soon forget which of you supported that detestable, LYING bitch and her treasonous 5 full scale US military bases. Thanks JuLIAR for making Australia a PRIMARY NUCLEAR TARGET in the event of a conflict that the USA will no doubt provoke with China.

<http://tinyurl.com/k42np3j>

Jungle Drum Prose/Poetry. <http://jungledrum.lingama.net/news/story-616.html>