Sydney dust storm

is only found in quantity in central Oz

not too long ago millions of tonnes were blown across the continent to empty into the sea off the East coast Sydney anyone that has spent time in the centre would verify its ability to find its way into everything thru the smallest cracks and perforations

Pine Gap, the NSA surveillance installation in central Oz is surrounded by red dust it's Australia's way of leaving a trail that's easy to follow it's almost impossible to completely remove it from machinery and other equipment one of our team decided to check out Pine Gap for himself he is an engineer, his speciality is useful remaining outside the perimeter he observed a number of humvees emerging at speed with dirt bikes headed directly for him and his observation camp pre-planned for immediate re-location, he quickly loaded his four-wheel drive and took off with the seppos in hot pursuit imagine, an Aussie in OUR red centre hotly pursued by fuckin' foreigners, seppos!

they seemed happy to chase him away and didn't venture far from the perimeter the next time we go to OUR red centre two Oz veterans will accompany our engineer, a trained and highly proficient long range sniper, the other, a Sigs expert it's about time we purged these invaders /occupiers from our land and our dreaming

we are expert at creating media frenzies and international incidents

War criminal with 5 U.S. Bases, back-stabbing treasonous lackey bitch
