

Just for the Fun of it!

The world's largest problem is solved by the world's simplest solution.

I am always amused when a 'seeker' says he/she has found the perfect 'master!' What has really occurred is that some poor fool has discovered they are a born SLAVE, too frightened to live their sovereign individual life. Get over this master-slave dichotomy for Christ's fuckin' sake. Blasphemy is a good place start, as it attacks deeply inculcated trigger responses -- for example, have you had the virgin Mary lick your arse lately or did you know that Jimmy Jesus Christ was bi-sexual and had performed oral sex on the basketball team behind the temple -- all religions are man-made fictions designed to frighten little children into submitting to authority -- so what are you, a child or a moron?

Get over it, morons, all cultural values are fabrications/human-created fictions.

Did you know that Jehovah is a homicidal, genocidal, homosexual -- fancy a psychopathic male Deity without a female counterpart, ridiculous -- perhaps that is why his perversities are so pronounced!

Are we still looking for the real 'God?' First tell me where 'it' isn't, then I'll show you where it is!

If everything happens in cycles, the next cycle will be the antithesis of the current cycle; in other words, the global majority will be fearless, fully enlightened, highly intelligent and Free. The current crop of selfish, cringing cowards are thoroughly loathsome.

That's all for now, morons, though there's plenty more where that came from -- remember, sheep are fit for the slaughter. Do you have any idea where the criminal (proven) ruling plutocrats are taking you?

It's time for the Free to course in the void, where the scintillations of existence create the most sublime music and euphoric rhythms.

Adieu!

[Fair dinkum, what a bunch of mindless lamers.]
