

Snowden Granted Temporary Asylum in Russia

by leon Thursday, Aug 1 2013, 3:23pm

international / prose / post

Edward Snowden who is on record for refusing to reveal "harmful" information about US global surveillance, has been granted temporary and conditional asylum in Russia.

This cyber leaker who could have easily remained anonymous, continues to withhold compromising information on the USA -- work that out if you can.

The Russians have granted Snowden one year temporary asylum conditional to Snowden not leaking information that could hurt "our American partners." [Well, at least Snowden inadvertently revealed Putin's true stripe!]

<http://www.skynews.com.au/world/article.aspx?id=892706>

Jungle Drum Prose/Poetry. <http://jungledrum.lingama.net/news/story-725.html>