

Who?

international / poetry / post i resist nothing

yet overcome everything; unable to adopt a fixed form i occupy whatever shape or vessel i encounter my strength is limitless yet it resides in my weakness; yielding to everything results in triumph over all my nature is that of water i am strengthened by surrender; offering no hard edge to blunt i smooth every hard surface that assails me

i am aimless and have no direction, my action/directions result from the forces that agitate and move me to action;
my power arises from the forces that prevail against me;
the stronger those forces the more powerful i become it is appreciated tho not understood that all attackers are overcome thereby, defeated by their own manic forces yielding to all force i am energised, my nature is increased as i decrease and return accumulated energies to their source

i am always victorious though i never seek victory, who am i?
a question worthy of an answer
