

No Time/Space

by rudi Wednesday, Oct 23 2013, 10:00am

international / prose / post

Science falters on its initial premise i.e. that the universe began or started -- the big bang of idiocy -- infinity has no beginning or end! Of course, it follows, if something begins it MUST end, as its beginning marks a reference point and all reference points require by definition at least one other antithetical (related) comparative reference point, in this case an END! That is all you need know to overturn the most sacred beliefs of measurement-based science.

What actually exists are multi-dimensional fluid impressions on a multi-dimensional 'screen'/medium called infinity. There is no time-space, beginning-end, life-death etc., in reality; continuity trashes all such feeble notions. So what is it that exists? CONSCIOUSNESS, pure and simple (as distinct from finite mind!)

This story now ends before it begins, thank you for your patience and understanding.

 J T Gatto - Underground History of American Education

 H G Wells - The Open Conspiracy

Jungle Drum Prose/Poetry. <http://jungledrum.lingama.net/news/story-860.html>