

The Self-Evident

by quill Friday, Dec 6 2013, 10:03am

international / prose / post

Due to the amazing level of dissociation suffered by post-modern man it becomes necessary to remind ourselves of the obvious.

We are all part of creation, the play of infinite existence, as such we ALL have a direct connection/link with the source of creation via our consciousness -- we cannot exist outside of (the ONE) infinite creation; there can be only ONE infinity which fills (saturates) all space and time.

The apparatus of mind/conscious is not faulty, what disconnects us from reality -- the truth of our existence -- is the cultural crap that fills our minds and the false values these perversions create. It becomes obvious that to restore our lives and REINTEGRATE with infinite existence (with each other) we need only reject the perverse values of the culture that is perverting (dividing/fragmenting) our consciousness.

There are no Gods that man has not created -- 10,000 since recorded history -- as Gods are simply idealised humans. Love is an emotion that all humans share, and yet we are taught that God is Love - - humans loved before they invented Gods, humans understood joy before Gods (priests) instilled guilt and fear into humanity.

If no Gods existed humans would be forced to take responsibility for their own lives. Without anything supernatural to blame or save us, humanity would be forced to maintain its own future viability by restoring harmony to the world.

Are we getting the gist? Without saviours we would not despoil our environment, as we would be forced to confront the destructive reality of the profit-only-driven nihilistic pursuits of corporations. We would also be forced to confront the self-serving, sick, anti-social behaviours of the people that run these corporations; these are the same sociopaths that engage in the business of deceiving the masses via the corporate media they own.

Democracy is DEAD, no secret. Numerous governments today engage in deliberate surveillance of their entire populations though no population voted to be spied on in this way. It becomes obvious that these governments are no longer representative of the majority as their actions designate the masses as potential enemy. If these governments do not represent the majority then they clearly represent a minority whose interests are clearly opposed to the greater good.

The above deductions are simple 2+2 logic so arriving at the obvious does not require a degree in rocket science.

Not long ago noble human qualities like selflessness, charity, kindness, brothers' keeper etc., were set as ideal characteristics for people to emulate/achieve; today the selfish, criminal, sociopathic characteristics of corporate directors and CEOs are presented as desirable qualities to be emulated. 'Get thee behind me ...' all temporal wealth, money and fleeting power. [I am not a Christian but will quote accurate, good sense when I see it!]

It is readily appreciated that the civilised world has been turned on its ear by perverse values -- all the above examples are self-evident/obvious, as are the solutions to the problems.

It is self-evident that positive social change/reform must be initiated and pursued by the people, as elite-serving governments have proven time and again that they view the masses as expendable slaves and potential enemies.

Slavery or Freedom, are your obvious choices -- you are not quite dead yet!

A final word directly to regulatory and military forces: whatever form your indoctrination takes today you are required to protect the PEOPLE, the Constitution and Bill of Rights -- you are NOT required, obliged or commissioned to fight corporate wars, protect minority elites, Wall St rogues, thieves or other nefarious groups engaged in mass murder, international theft and a host of other crimes against freedom and humanity. DO NOT BE DECEIVED!

Target minority criminal elites to RESTORE peace and harmony to our world. These completely DEPENDENT minorities are extremely vulnerable -- mark them well in the event they precipitate a mass (biological) holocaust to protect themselves. They consider all humans as disposable commodities and already possess the biological means for mass extermination, BE ADVISED!

Stand and fight for your rights as your forefathers did before you or continue in servitude and SURELY DIE.

[Disseminate this story to those with an ear to hear and eyes to see -- We are NOT divided.]

Jungle Drum Prose/Poetry. <http://jungledrum.lingama.net/news/story-897.html>