from beyond

i am aware of you though i know u are beyond the reach of my five senses of course we are not limited by the sphere we inhabit, i remember

so where r u?
a lingering memory
or living reality,
what form do u take?

yes,
u are right again,
the form that i choose
at any given time,
u happily inhabit

u were never fussed like the bimbos that spend half their lives preening in front of mirrors appearances are not important u are with me as u promised -presence life is never extinguished though bodies fall like autumn leaves life continues uninterrupted while embodied u once appeared to me as a flood of light, pure love no form or body just light heavy with qualities u have led me outside myself again or maybe inside but location is irrelevant

u are right presence is only worthy of recognition

found again
