

"The US is a knuckle-dragging, low grade moronic culture" - George Galloway

by staff report via sal - The Voice of Russia Monday, Dec 30 2013, 9:19am

international / prose / post

British MP George Galloway no longer plays 'The Emperor has clothes;' Galloway states plain truth as it is. It is refreshing to hear him and Irish MP Clare Daly state the obvious and plain truth about Obama, and lawless, gun-happy, banjo playing, moron America. Leaders of US vassal states, including the despicable knee-walking current Oz government, are on notice. After tolerating Murdoch appointee PMs Rudd and Gillard, the Oz population has clearly had enough. As for shameless and treasonous servant to the plutocracy, PM Tony Abbott, he will learn that ignoring socially aware enlightened Australians comes at a very high cost.

The high point of the American Empire has passed and mercifully we have emerged intact from the 20 very dangerous years during which the United States was the sole superpower in the world. We must never allow ourselves to endure that trial again. Power in the world is now passing to the East, to China, to Russia and to other rising nations as the United States is an aging tiger whose teeth are falling out.

This was stated in an interview which outspoken and brutally honest British MP George Galloway granted to the Voice of Russia's John Robles.

With regard to US surrogate NATO which is circling both Russia and China with bases and nuclear weapons, he labeled it an "imperial war machine" and called it "the greatest danger to peace and security in the world." Mr. Galloway was also candid on his assessment of Saudi Arabia which he called a "gangster state" with Prince Bandar acting as chief capo who delivers severed horse's heads into the bed of whomsoever they wish to intimidate.

As for Ukraine Mr. Galloway put the situation into stark perspective by saying: "Can you imagine what would happen if President Putin went to the streets of Toronto on street demonstrations whipping up anti-American feeling, in neighboring country. And yet this is precisely what is happening on the front line in Kiev now," he added; again President Putin has again played a masterful diplomatic game.

As for declining US hegemony he stated: "... they are losing and losing and losing. ... they are losing because their power is waning, because hard power is waning, their financial power is defunct and their soft power, their cultural power is virtually non-existent. Anyone who takes a look at John McCain and thinks that that is a cultural soft power icon to desire, to head towards, would need their head examined. This is knuckle-dragging, low grade moronic culture," he stated.

Listen to or download full interview below:

🔊 Galloway interview

<http://tinyurl.com/mwgul9z>

