

We know how Sociopaths behave and what makes them tick, so who is really Responsible?

by doc Monday, Jan 6 2014, 2:16am

international / prose / post

Should we blame a pig for snorting, a duck for swimming, a scorpion for stinging or a homicidal sociopath for having the integrity to be what he/she is?

Sociopath and lackey to the plutocracy

'Shocking news' reports about the CIA, NSA, puppet government and other illegal, anti-social organisations/agencies saturate the privately owned mass media today as part of a concerted education campaign designed to 'soften' the public to illegal pan surveillance and more losses of democratic freedoms, liberties and 'inalienable' rights.

It is clear that GLOBAL surveillance is both illegal and UNNECESSARY to fight crime. A recent government report revealed that precious little, "thin," evidence exists that global NSA surveillance thwarted or prevented organised terrorist attacks! It is obvious that targeted surveillance is the most efficient and effective method for fighting organised crime.

So who is really to blame for the current deplorable state of the oppressed nation? Do we blame psychologically flawed anal control freaks working for the NSA for doing what comes natural to them, or homicidal sociopaths working for the CIA, not likely. We cannot in good conscience blame those we know would behave in a certain way.

So when I see the never-ending effluent that issues from the mass media and the misguided hysterics or passive acceptance of the alternative media, I instinctively reach for my 9mm and look for who is responsible in order to correct the situation -- I subscribe to the Naxalite view that the immediate elimination of known members of the criminal class is the most effective remedial action to take. The world will wake to that reality and effective strategy shortly -- you simply cannot negotiate with sick, homicidal, flawed personalities, that simple!

So after some rudimentary analysis, it becomes plain that the responsibility for the current state of affairs of the WORLD rests squarely on the shoulders of the masses, yes, the PEOPLE for tolerating and accepting the oppressive measures that have been gradually applied to their desperate, pathetic (thank you, Ernest) lives, or for not openly opposing what they know to be criminal and anti-social behaviour from their leaders, a tiny minority that is easily eradicated via the popular will!

So please desist from making further representations and/or pleas for assistance, we have had enough of your ingratitude, treachery and cowardice. If you want change then EFFECT IT YOURSELVES; none of you are worth a pinch of shit; if you do not like your government then remove it via the popular will -- it's an open secret that you continue to be the most powerful social force on the planet but you live in a gelded 'Brave New World' today and while your minds are easily distracted from catastrophic climate change/reality, by vacuous media fabrications like Miley Cyrus scratching her cunt on stage, then you deserve everything you get; the world is racing to ruin while your egos are petted and your crotches titilated.

We have an expression in Oz , "ya wouldn't feed 'em," which refers to groups or persons not worth supporting or troubling oneself over; I would add to that another Aussie expression, "ya wouldn't piss on 'em!"

Good luck, you mindless morons, the reality you ignore will destroy you.

Subconscious War - or Subliminal Indoctrination

'We came, we saw, he died!' -- homicidal sociopath

<http://tinyurl.com/pgwne8u>

Jungle Drum Prose/Poetry. <http://jungledrum.lingama.net/news/story-943.html>