

Propaganda Coup

Do not underestimate the only war the US is winning, hands down. The propaganda war.

Adept America 'perception managers' have the vast majority convinced that unarmed, peaceful opposition is the most effective course to take in spite of its obvious failures throughout history -- including the much touted Gandhi peace movement, which history rightfully records as a sectarian blood bath -- so get over it you deluded dunces!

Now consider that the known plutocratic ruling elite is tiny in number but they have control of major information technologies in the West and unsurprisingly they use this resource to promulgate a fictional, false 'reality' in order to ensure not only their own survival but to increase their obscene wealth and the power that affords them.

Compare the strength of this tiny criminal group against the overwhelming social strength of the moral GLOBAL majority, which numbers in the billions and you too would realise the critical nature of maintaining cultural myths and fictions in order to continue and prosper -- this is not rocket science!

Now consider how most opposition groups, especially the American opposition, have been convinced to pursue peaceful protests -- which usually reveal their identities for very prompt future arrests! And consider how these misguided groups face fully armed paramilitary police that show no mercy to the peaceful protesters.

Can YOU believe DIRECTLY confronting fully armed, murdering, sadistic, highly trained paramilitary police without weapons or strategies and getting trounced on every occasion? How long before you idiots learn from direct experience/REALITY and history?

The smaller, more agile force never confronts the larger, slower more powerful force directly -- read all the successful guerrilla campaigns of history, including Vietnam for verification. The smaller more agile force always chooses the time and place for all surprise attacks and slowly but surely, via attrition, wears down the larger opponent, as history CLEARLY records.

Attack cells/groups must maintain complete secrecy and never reveal their identities, they hit and run before the smoke settles and then watch and laugh at paramilitary buffoons running circles because they do not have a bunch of deluded unarmed morons to vanquish at will!

Fair dinkum, are yanks really so stupid that they would continue with proven FAILED strategies and methodologies and ignore proven successful tactics and strategies?

My final world is, ALL those misguided clowns that preach peaceful resistance/revolution either work for the man as agents or they are severely deluded and ignorant of history, notwithstanding they are also flagrant deniers of REALITY!

There is a war raging NOW, as I write, and if you haven't realised via the erosion of almost all your liberties and freedoms and the outrageous intrusions on your privacy, that YOU ARE THE 'ENEMY' then you deserve your current servile status. Criminal minority elites have always feared the masses, but they have the good sense to learn from history and to mitigate any threats to their privileged existences.
